Dear Matalco customer,

Subject: Russian Origin Products

Matalco confirms that it does not use any alloys and/or other process inputs which originate from Russia to produce its aluminum products.

In furtherance to the terms and conditions of our supply agreements, in terms of governance, Matalco has put in place various rules and policies, which clearly outline the business ethics we wish for to adopt in order to conform with our values: care, courage and curiosity. Our Code of Conduct and the terms and conditions of our agreements support the values and guide us in making the right choices. Our commitment to acting responsibly is essential to our success. One of the key elements to this success is to work with suppliers which share the same values and who respect same scrupulously. Given the foregoing, Matalco does not directly or indirectly contract with Russian owned or controlled suppliers.

Finally, kindly note that Matalco complies with Australian, Canadian, EU, UK and US sanctions as they relate to prohibitions on Russian products and entities.

If any further information is required, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Ashley Jacoby
